GAS TRUST FIGURES USED BY HUMPHREYS

EXPERT ADMITS ON STAND THAT DATA FURNISHED HIM BY ENGINEER WOOD.

The astonishing admission was made today by expert Humphreys, at the hearing before the Gas Commission on the petition of the Boston Gas Company to its effect that the figures given by him on piping and paying, included in his valuation of the gas trust property, were distorted. Humphreys brought with him two copies of the figures given by him to the Gas Trust and which Corporation Counsel Hanson had received from the clients which he represents.

Sits in Dazed Condition in Tombs and Officials Keep Careful Watch to Prevent Possible Attempt at Suicide—Efforts to Get Bail Have Failed.

By Boston American Special Wire. NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Fearing an attempt at suicide, close watch is being kept on Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick in her cell in the Tombs.

This is by direction of the surgeon of the Tombs. The Queen of Finance, whose financial operations ran into millions, appears to be in a semi-comatose condition, according to the prison physician. She acts like a person dazed, hence the watch on her to prevent her doing herself any bodily harm.

Mrs. Chadwick is crushed beneath the weight of her troubles. Still unable to secure the bail of $15,000 demanded by the United States Commissioner, her son, Emil Hoover, has hinted that his mother will, rather than remain in the Tombs cell, waive all rights and formalities and return to Cleveland. There he is certain she can get bail immediately.

Meanwhile, developments in the great mystery of money are kaleidoscopic. Cringing, overpowered, a nervous wreck, Mrs. Chadwick has heard them all.

Mrs. Chadwick will, it was announced today, make examination and be returned to Cleveland immediately. Women were called to the Tombs prison today by Walter Firm, who feared that Mrs. Chadwick was fast losing her mind.

Following a notice and hysterical attack in her cell, the woman who has struggled with sadness and who is held in default of $15,000 bail on a charge of assisting in working a national bank, appeared haggard and sad today.

At the time the trial started 123 men were at work in the mine. It is feared many lives have been or will be lost.
